THE PRO'S VIEW:

We continue to advise you on how to best manage your play at Monterey Pines Golf Course. You will only see the tougher Par 3 holes in this column as this month we work on:

HOLE #13 192 YARDS, PAR 3

This hole is tough! It's long and features two huge Monterey cypress trees that guard the left side of the green. The right side is trapped, leaving the golfer with only a small opening to hit to the green. Another problem can also occur. Most golfers either slice or face a golf ball, which is affected then by the prevailing afternoon breeze off the ocean.

GOLF TIP

Topping

Topping is hitting the ball anywhere above the equator. The first thing you must understand in order to prevent this is that you can actually do it in two distinctly different ways. Probably the most common cause of topping among regular golfers is swinging down steeply into the ball that the clubhead does not get low enough to contact the back of the ball before it has passed beyond the ball. Chronic slicers and pullers generally top shots this way, although it can happen occasionally even to good players, especially when hitting "late" with the hands in trying to drive the ball low.

There are two shots to play:

"The first shot option (geared to the more accomplished golfer) is to hit a high hard drive at the right side of the bunker (sand trap) bringing it right-to-left to the green".

"With the second shot option, the average golfer, using a club that will keep the ball low, can hit the ball and let it roll to the green. If it does not hit the green, at least there is the opportunity to chip it close and save par."

GOLF RULE

Rule 1-1/2

Player Unaware he has Holed Out Puts Another Ball into Play

Question: A player, unable to find his ball, puts another ball into play. He then discovers that his original ball is in the hole. What is the ruling?

Answer: The score with the original ball counts. The play of the hole was completed when the player holed that ball.

Reminder to all players with an official USGA handicap to come out and play in the MWR skins game every Saturday morning at Monterey Pines. Call the golf shop.

*Monterey Pines Golf Course is open on most federal holidays.
